BROTHERS MOYSE, BECKETT, AND THORNTON, SOLDIERS OF THE HUNTSVILLE CORPS, ALL OCTOGENARIANS OR THEREABOUTS AND WITH LONG SERVICE RECORDS, BUT STILL VIGOROUS FIGHTERS IN THE CAUSE AND EXAMPLES TO THE YOUNGER WARRIORS. GOD BLESS THEM AND THE MANY OTHER VETERANS THROUGHOUT THE DOMINION WHOM THEY REPRESENT.

By MAJOR J. N. PARKER

Do your officers or comrades listen when you sing, get blessed when you testify and respond when you pray? Do they like to have you do things in a meeting? Do they come to you for advice and help in time of trial?

Do the people among whom you work believe in your religion? Do they trust you? do they respect you? are they afraid of you? they say and do when you are around?

Do you fish in the meetings, and does the sinner listen to your pleadings and come to the Pentecost Form and get saved?

Do you do good, if others do not believe in you, if your work does not bring results if your life bears no fruit—why is it because you do not pray?

It is not being saved, it is being sanctified. It is not the Army of other lines, but the Army of God and through you that saves.

Just as the body lives by getting and eating food, so does the soul by obedience and prayer.

Just as the body lives by doing work; and to feed upon God, must pray and keep prayer work.

Take All to God

Take all to God in prayer, your work, your business, your home, your family, your friends, your comrades, the Army world; the big and little things

FIGHTING ON THE FIELD

MILITARY BRIGADE

Stirs up much interest at West Toronto with music, song and testimony—Major Southall in charge—Nine Seekers

Many people were attracted to the open air meeting at West Toronto on Saturday, June 27th, the sound of the aluminum chimes played by Ensign Laurie. The Military Brigade, consisting of about twenty members of the Salvation Army Military Department, was there for the week-end, this being their first appearance as a united soul-saving brigade.

Large crowds attended the meetings on Sunday and apparently enjoyed and appreciated the stirring addresses of Major Southall and the music, song and testimonies of the various members of the Brigade. Accounts of the work done by the District visitors were given by Mrs. Ensign Marshall and Sister Mrs. White, many stories of thrilling interest being related.

At night the Hall was packed and the Major's Salvation address created a deep impression. While the Band and Songsters conducted an open-air meeting, the Brigade kept a red hot prayer meeting going and nine persons volunteered to the Penitent Form. This brigade is in to do good service in the interest of the Kingdom of God. A tent campaign will be conducted for a week at Yorkville early in July and good times are looked forward to.

EDMONTON III.

We are glad to be able to report progress at Edmonton III. God is blessing us. On Sunday, June 23rd, four young people (two young men and two young women) volunteered our lives to the Holy Spirit for salvation and holiness. We have four applications from Candidates for the next Training Session.

YORKTON (SASK.)

Major Sims and Commandant Larson recently visited Yorkton, Captain Swinton and Lieutenant Lawrence. They have been here, and have done a splendid work. The Corps is in good condition, and has a band of Blood-and-Fire workers. The Commandant Larson conducted the testimonies, and gave a good talk to the people, while the Major gave an address. The seekers are being served. The School is entering the Training School from this Corps in the Fall.

OPEN-AIR CAMPAIGN

Is Planned for Summer Months at St. Catharines—Four Soldiers Enrolled—Big Self-Denial Victory Achieved

Adjutant Urquhart recently enrolled four comrades as Salvation Soldiers at St. Catharines. Brother and Sister Dacon and Sister A. Slater were three of the enrolled. They are new converts, and already show zeal for the Cause. Bandsman W. Eacott, also enrolled, is a private of the Junior Corps, and is a recent addition to the Band.

There have been four dedication services and a total of ten fives are dedicated to God and the War.

The comrades have worked splendidly for Self-Denial. On June 1st we had the Seniors' Altar Service. The meeting was closed early, and a special Soldiers' meeting held. Plans were laid for our Summer Open-Air Campaign, and schedules of open-air each comrade. From the talks given by different Locals the devil will be given a bad time here this summer, and we pray that souls may be rescued from his power.

Sunday, June 8th, was a good day. Captain and Mrs. Blaney, once stationed here, now at North Bay, led the Holiness meeting. This was a time of refreshing. The young people brought their gifts to the Altar.

In the afternoon our first park meeting this season was held. It was a time of freedom and blessing. The Band and Songsters were out in full force and all worked for the Kingdom wholeheartedly.

In the morning the open-air was held in front of Brother W. Heberden's home. This comrade has just returned from overseas. Heberden was a "fighter" before he enlisted. At the front he gained distinction, was severely wounded, and came home with a desire to do more than ever for the Kingdom. On the night meeting our comrade was heartily welcomed. He gave a very interesting address.

Captain Blaney conducted a very lively wind-up. The enthusiasm was felt over the Self-Denial success—the result having just been announced. Our target was $715, and we raised over $700.

Sister S. Cooke paid us a good-bye visit. She is leaving for England. Though in Toronto for some time she had not forgotten her happy days here. Sister Cooke was enrolled as a Soldier in this Corps and was a great help as Life-Saving Gang Leader, Songster, and Company Guard. We wish her God-speed.

Brother Owen's also farewelled for England. In his farewell talk he said he hoped to be back among us very soon, and bring another Soldier. Mrs. Owen—back with him—C.

MOTHER AND SON

Do Good Service for God and Army Sister Mrs. Lapp and her son Irvin collected eighty dollars from private houses for the Self-Denial effort. The Home League is faithful Soldiers of Saskatchewan II. Corps, Sister Mrs. Lapp having only missed one open-air meeting since the Corps was opened on January 1st. They also sell forty "War Crisps" weekly, and are both Company Guards.

SUPPER AND SOCIAL

For Three Hundred Returned Men and Dependents Given by the Red Cross Corps—Major Walton Gives Address

On Wednesday, June 11th, over three hundred returned men, wives and children of the district, were entertained to a supper and social at the Red Cross Corps. The evening was spent by one and all.

The weather being ideal the Corps Officer arranged for the supper to take place on the lawn alongside the Citadel. The tables and surroundings were artistically decorated and it did justice to the splendid spread arranged by Mrs. Farmer (Home League Secretary) and Mrs. Major McGilivray (Home League Treasurer).

The meeting was closed early, and a special Soldiers' meeting held. Plans were laid for our Summer Open-Air Campaign, and schedules of open-air each comrade. From the talks given by different Locals the devil will be given a bad time here this summer, and we pray that souls may be rescued from his power.

HELPFUL MEETINGS

Led by Visiting Officers at Prince Albert—Two

Major Sims and Commandant Larson conducted week-end meetings at Prince Albert recently. Captain and Mrs. Merrett are doing well at this Corps and a number of souls have been converted. The attendances at both open-air and indoor meetings have increased, and many comrades are making a stand for God.

On the occasion of the visit of the Major and Commandant we had splendid meetings. The Commandant is well known here. He is always a welcome visitor. His talks and counsel were much appreciated. The Major's Bible lessons were real treasures. The comrades are always words spoken to the hearts of the people. Two souls sought holiness, and all were helped heavenward.

OPENING OF KELOWNA

Brigadier McLean, Assisted by Arzon Band, Conducts First Week-End Meetings—Nine Seek Salvation

Saturday, May 31st, and Sunday, June 1st, were the opening dates for the Salvation Army work at Kelowna. On Saturday night a large crowd gathered to listen to the open-air conducted by Brigadier McLean, assisted by Lieutenant Songsters from Vernon and the Corps Officers, Captain Hodge, and Lieutenant Tigerstedt.

All day Sunday, we had with the Vernon Band, which was a good help with their music and testimonies.

On Sunday morning the Brigadier gave a good holiness address. At the afternoon praise service, a good crowd was present, and many testimonies were given. A large crowd stood around the open-air at night, and listened to the music and the testimonies.

Right from the start of the inside meeting, God's presence was felt. The Brigadier spoke powerfully on the words, "Jesus Came to Seek and to Save that which was Lost." At the close we had the joy of seeing nine young people seeking salvation. Many Christian friends came to help with the open-air work, and our faith is high for a soul-saving time at this new opening night in the fast-growing centre of British Columbia.

NORTH BAY LOCALS

Are Pushing on the Salvation War With Enthusiasm

Our Officers, Captain and Mrs. Blaney, being on a few weeks' leave, the meetings are in charge of the Local Officers. We are holding two open-air on Saturday nights now, instead of the open-air meeting on account of the weather being so warm, that very few will come inside. The open-air on Saturday last were in the charge of Sergeant-Major Suite and Bandmaster Saunders. These outdoor meetings are proving a success and a grand blessing to all who take part. Meetings all day Sunday were held by Treasurer Smith and Young People's Sergeant-Major Parsons. They were well attended and God came very near and blessed our souls—L. H. S.

Thank God for another good week-end (May 24th-25th) at Red Deer. Captain T. Munn conducted from Edmonton and contacted the meetings. On Sunday night we had a good crowd. Captains F. and T. Munn sang a duet and Sister M. Mosley spoke. Dad Fisher gave his testimony, telling us how precious God had been to him during the fifty-two years of his Christian experience.

During the prayer meeting eight souls were saved. The great need found Salvation, as could be easily seen by the happy smiles and testimonies and said that their deliverance was to go through with God.

Bandsman and Mrs. S. Richardson were recently wedded at Peterboro. The bride is a daughter of the Young People's Sergeant-Major around.

BRIGADIER MOORE

Visits Newcastle, N.B.—Brigadier McEwan Also Leads Meeting—Two Seek Salvation

We had with us at Newcastle on June 3rd our new Divisional Commander (Brigadier Moore), and also Captain Lowe and Lieutenant Smith and a number of comrades and friends from Chatham.

The farewell remarks of Lieutenant Sinclair (who leaves shortly for Bermuda) made a deep impression. The Lieutenant has a number of friends in Newcastle, who wish to be comforted and pray that she may be a means of blessing in Bermuda, as she has been in Newcastle, where she was supplied for number of weeks before our Officers, Captain Ritchie and Lieutenant Locke, came. This being the Brigadier's second visit to Newcastle the comrades and friends knew they could look forward to a good meeting, and their expectations were more than realized.

In the prayer meeting, our soul was won for the Master.

Brigadier McEwan, of the Training College (Toronto), and the meeting on May 16th. It was well attended, and the Brigadier's address was enjoyed by all.

The week-end meetings of May 24th-25th were led by Sergeant-Major Stewart (Moncton). The attendances were good, and the Sergeant-Major's addresses were of the usual Blood-and-fire style. One soul was converted.

Our Self-Denial Target is smashed, and the Officers are planning a sale for the next future—J.E.F.

TWO AT MERCY SEAT

Good Week-End Meetings at Regina

The week-end meetings (June 7-8) at Regina were conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Marshall. The adjutant, under Bandmaster J. Henderson, turned out well all day. The Adjutant's address in the morning was very helpful.

In the afternoon Corporal F. Capen, of the C. A. M. C. at the St. Chad's Military Hospital spoke. The comrade was recently discharged and is doing well. At night the Band rendered the selection, "Hallelujah," and the Songsters "Past Victories." After the adjutant's talk we had the joy of seeing two at the Mercy Seat. One had been prayed for by some of the comrades for a long time.

The Young People's meeting on Monday night was a great blessing. Candidate Mary and her friends, Sister in testimonies and Scout-Master J. Dimond led the Brothers. There was a good crowd present. R. J. Corbin, Corps Representative.

EIGHT SOULS AT RED DEER

Thank God for another good week-end (May 24th-25th) at Red Deer. Captain T. Munn conducted from Edmonton and contacted the meetings. On Sunday night we had a good crowd. Captains F. and T. Munn sang a duet and Sister M. Mosley spoke. Dad Fisher gave his testimony, telling us how precious God had been to him during the fifty-two years of his Christian experience.

WEDDING AT LISGAR-ST.

Major McGilivray Unites in Marriage Sister Killick and Brother McConnell

The Lisgar Street Citadel, which was tastefully decorated by Commandant Parsons with palms, flowers and mottoes, was well filled on Tuesday evening, June 18th, when Major McGilivray united in marriage Sister Phoebe Elizabeth Killick and Brother George Robert McConnell. The bride was supported by her sister, Mrs. Peck, and the groom by Captain Foster of Kingston.

The Band and Songsters rendered the music throughout the service, and Mrs. McGilivray read the Scripture Lesson. Captain Leach, a former Corps Officer of Lisgar Street, spoke briefly on behalf of the bride. After the ceremony the bride and groom each spoke, thanking everyone present for their kind congratulations and interest.

The bride was then a member of the Lisgar Street Corps for a number of years. She was a Songster, and very active in connection with the Primary Department. The bridegroom is a Soldier of Kingston Corps, and during the service a telegram of congratulations was read from the Officers and Band of that Corps.

Lieutenant Williams (an Officer of the 14th Battalion) spoke on behalf of the returned men. Mr. Ross (a returned man) sang a solo entitled "Mother." Brother Moffatt also spoke. A few children took part in the program.

The Band played several selections, after which Captain Scott spoke very encouragingly to the returned men, telling them if they ever needed help, the Salvation Army was ready and willing to do their best. Lieutenant Tucker closed in prayer. The sisters of the Corps worked hard to make it a success.

Newly-renovated Citadel at Portage la Prairie, with Officer's Quarters

air meetings were a special feature of the Corps operations. Owing to the inclement heat only a short meeting was held in the Hall at night and then the whole Corps proceeded to the street corner. A considerable crowd of people gathered to listen to the service. The Songsters rendered a selection and the Band led the singing of number of Army songs, concluding with "Abide with Me".

At least forty comrades took part in this service, which is a record for open-air attendance. A Troop of Life-Saving Scouts is being organized and the members of the Troop are for an energetic summer campaign.

INSPIRING CAMPAIGN

Conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Kendall at Kitchener

We have had a very excellent nine days' campaign in Kitchener. Adjutant and Mrs. Kendall were with us, and they were a great help and forward for the blessing of the people. The weather was extremely hot, but this did not stop the people from coming to the meetings. Kimmins, Captain.

Hog Island paid a graceful tribute to the Salvation Army by launching its twenty-ninth big ship under the name "Salvation Lass." The "Salvation Lass" is a bouncer, being one of the 7,500-ton variety, and she did credit to her name and traditions by, taking to the water like a veteran.

Thousands of persons saw the launching, the whole yard turning out for the occasion. Other visitors included Salvation Army Officers, who turned red with pride as the "Lass" glided overboard; officials of the American International Shipbuilding Corporation, and a party of Washington correspondents and delegates to the Merchant Marine Conference being held in that city.

A wise decision was made when it was determined to concentrate on general spiritual work and hospital visitation in Vladivostok.

PART III-CHAPTER III.

FIGHTING FOR SOULS

AS Jim grew in grace and in knowledge, many opportunities were presented to him of doing good to others. One day the Captain in charge of the Corps asked him if he, with several others, would go to Barham Green, a nearby village, to hold an open-air meeting.

"Yes, I'll go anywhere for Jesus!" was Jim's ready answer.

GLAD TO SEE ARMY

On the following Sunday, therefore, the little party set off. The village folk seemed glad to see the Salvation Army and a fine crowd gathered round to listen, to the singing and speaking. Two men and one woman sought Salvation, kneeling at an old fallen tree which was utilized as a Pentecost Form. Jim and his comrades were highly encouraged over this. In the afternoon they held a meeting in a farmer's barn, and two more people got saved. From here the little party of Salvationists walked to Claydon. Borrowing a box from a shopkeeper to use as a pulpit they started their meeting opposite the parsonage called "The Greyhound."

Jumping on the box Jim gave out the first verse of the song, "There is a fountain filled with blood." A crowd soon gathered around, but from the start it became evident that these people were not so well disposed towards the Army as those at Barham Green. Jim afterwards observed that the husband of "The Greyhound," fearing that he would lose some of his customers if the Army got hold of them, had treated a number of men to a liberal amount of beer to induce them to upset the meeting. The first intimation that Jim had of any trouble brewing was when he was violently knocked on the box. He fell full length on the ground, and when he managed to scramble up he found that his nose was bleeding.

"Barnum!" he shouted, "this is the first blood that I've shed for Jesus. Glory to God!"

BOLD FOR JESUS

A Naval Engineer Has Some Exciting Experiences While Visiting Various Ships

While on a certain destroyer, Leander Matthews, busy at collecting for Self-Denial, sang, "Would Jesus have the sinner die?" and then while in the wardroom, dropped on his knees and prayed.

On another of His Majesty's vessels he sang and prayed and had a good time generally, and before he left the ship he was thanked for his services and help was given. As may be imagined, it was not always like this.

Thrown across War Room

One destroyer commander threatened to throw the plucky Leander overboard, and a captain threw his collecting-box across the wardroom. In the first case no donation was given, but in the second it was

The boozed-primed crowd seemed about to rush at him, but unexpected aid came at hand. Three men who had known him in the old days stepped in front of him and adopted a menacing attitude towards the crowd.

"This is an old friend of ours," shouted out one, "and we aren't going to stand by and see him knocked about!"

But the effect of quietening the disturbers for a time, and Jim attempted to continue the meeting.

But the landed was not to be beaten so easily, and he attempted a new ruse. Out from the publichouse came a man with a ball, which he started to ring, making such a noise that Jim could not make himself heard. But it also had the effect of attracting more people to the spot, and as they were anxious to hear what the Salvationists had to say, they compelled the man to stop his noise.

Then Jim and his friends started in to make the most of their opportunity and were getting along very well when the wily landlady opened long range rifle on them, and, apologetic although right before him, poor Jim got a rotten egg. This put him out of action for a while, but the others carried on the meeting, and one man sought Salvation.

The campaigners did not reach home till 11.15 that night, but they were full of joy at the results of their efforts and ready for further fights against the devil.

PRAYED BY ROADSIDE

They had a feeling that some opposition might be encountered, and so on the way they had four or five prayer meetings by the roadside. On arriving at the village they formed in line and marched down the street singing, "We'll roll the old chariot along."

In the centre of the village green was a huge stone, and Jim decided to use this as his pulpit. Mounting on it, therefore, he said, "My dear friends, we have come here to-day to tell you about Jesus and His power to save.

"I picked up my box and prepared to leave with a 'God-bless you' when some of the officers said, 'Not so fast, sonny. Stay and tell us what the Salvation Army's doing for Service-men.' I was glad of this opportunity, and did my best to tell them what was being done, and they very kindly helped me."

Boarding a transport one day, the Glory to God! If he could save me he can save anyone."

"God for you, old boy!" shouted one of the crowd.

"Now I am going to give out a song," announced Jim, "and we want you all to help us sing it. This is the first verse:-"

"God gave His Son for me, From sinners to redeem."

He got no further for just then some one threw a bad egg with muzzling aim right into Jim's open mouth, and he started to gasp, spit, and splutter. The crowd roared with laughter.

NOT DAUNTED

But Jim's spirit was not to be quenched by a little happening of this sort. He knew it to be a conspiracy for the mouth of the disgusting substance, he said good-humouredly.

"Dear friends, before you presented me with that egg, I was saying that I wanted you to sing. Now, let us try again:-"

"God gave His Son for me, From sinners to redeem."

Splosh, splosh! - another egg splattered over him and he must surely have sympathized with the poor Arab whose prayers he and Pat had so rudely interrupted when going through the Suez Canal so many years before.

Fresh roars of laughter came from the crowd, and this encouraged the fun-makers to redouble their efforts until poor Jim was a sticky mass of yellow yolk and bits of eggshell over head to foot. But the eggthrowers were otherwise occupied, for Jim managed to dodge some of the missiles and they exploded among the crowd on the other side of the ring.

Thus the crowd, which had been provoked from the once who were hit and a fight was soon in progress. Flour, oat, and yellow ochre were then brought forth by some mischievous wags and the opposing forces liberally besprinkled each other with these ingredients until most of the folk looked like circus clowns.

Jim got liberal doses of all three powders flung over him and they stuck firmly on account of the eggs on his face, so that he looked like a three-colour girl on a magazine front that had got badly mixed up, or perhaps it would be more correct to compare him with a futuristic painting.

Jim and his comrades stuck to their task. However, and upon so praying, speaking, and singing, the villagers calmed down and Jim told a little of his own life.

No doubt they admired him for his courage, but the Salvationists had taken their buffeting, and treated the treatment or denouncing their comrades, but to a spirit of meanness seeking to do good to those who despectfully used him.

The meeting wound up with several men and women seeking Salvation, and this rewarded Jim and his friends. Their labours and sufferings had not been in vain after all, and on the way home Jim knew it to be a conspiracy for the mouth of the disgusting substance, he said good-humouredly.

"Dear friends, before you presented me with that egg, I was saying that I wanted you to sing. Now, let us try again:-"

"God gave His Son for me, From sinners to redeem."

Splosh, splosh! - another egg splattered over him and he must surely have sympathized with the poor Arab whose prayers he and Pat had so rudely interrupted when going through the Suez Canal so many years before.

Fresh roars of laughter came from the crowd, and this encouraged the fun-makers to redouble their efforts until poor Jim was a sticky mass of yellow yolk and bits of eggshell over head to foot. But the eggthrowers were otherwise occupied, for Jim managed to dodge some of the missiles and they exploded among the crowd on the other side of the ring.

Thus the crowd, which had been provoked from the once who were hit and a fight was soon in progress. Flour, oat, and yellow ochre were then brought forth by some mischievous wags and the opposing forces liberally besprinkled each other with these ingredients until most of the folk looked like circus clowns.

Jim got liberal doses of all three powders flung over him and they stuck firmly on account of the eggs on his face, so that he looked like a three-colour girl on a magazine front that had got badly mixed up, or perhaps it would be more correct to compare him with a futuristic painting.

Jim and his comrades stuck to their task. However, and upon so praying, speaking, and singing, the villagers calmed down and Jim told a little of his own life.

No doubt they admired him for his courage, but the Salvationists had taken their buffeting, and treated the treatment or denouncing their comrades, but to a spirit of meanness seeking to do good to those who despectfully used him.

The meeting wound up with several men and women seeking Salvation, and this rewarded Jim and his friends. Their labours and sufferings had not been in vain after all, and on the way home Jim knew it to be a conspiracy for the mouth of the disgusting substance, he said good-humouredly.

"Dear friends, before you presented me with that egg, I was saying that I wanted you to sing. Now, let us try again:-"

"God gave His Son for me, From sinners to redeem."

He got no further for just then some one threw a bad egg with muzzling aim right into Jim's open mouth, and he started to gasp, spit, and splutter. The crowd roared with laughter.

NOT DAUNTED

But Jim's spirit was not to be quenched by a little happening of this sort. He knew it to be a conspiracy for the mouth of the disgusting substance, he said good-humouredly.

OUR JOURNEY TO INDIA

A Letter From Ensign C. A. Clark Descriptive of What He Saw En Route to His Adopted Country

"My journey from Canada to India entailed almost seventeen thousand miles of travel by land and sea," writes Ensign C. A. Clark.

"With Captain C. L. Frazier of the United States field as my travelling companion, I called from San Francisco on Jan. 23rd for our final destination, Bombay, which port was reached on the last day of March."

"Our host, the 'Shinyo Maru,' took the Southern Pacific course, which gave us the privilege of seeing the Hawaiian Islands. We stopped at Honolulu, the Paradise of the Pacific, on the way. Lieutenant Colonel Dublin is in command of our operations there and he showed us much kindness, as did other Commanders."

"From Yokohama we took the electric car to Tokyo where Acting Commissioner de Groot and Headquarters Staff received us in real Salvation Army style. We were shown the city and some of our various institutions."

"As holders of through tickets we were privileged to see by rail from Yokohama to Kobe, which gave us a splendid chance to get the interior of that beautiful and unique little country. While rapidly becoming westernized and overworking with energy to develop a civilization of peace, industry, and in Kyoto, the former capital, over seventeen hundred heathen temples are to be found."

"At Colombo, Ceylon, we were welcomed by Brigadier Cloyd, the Territorial Leader, and his Staff. Brigadier Vinje, who joined us at Hong Kong, met with us returning from Sweden to India where he and Mrs. Vinje have spent over twenty-seven years, became our

"Manila was our next port of call. Here we were three days and had an opportunity to see and find considerable of this very beautiful place. At each port, according to war regulations, our passports were carefully examined."

"Then came Hong Kong where we were obliged to stay for seventeen days to get a boat for Bombay. This gave ample opportunity to see much of Chinese life and customs."

"Amongst the different services we took part in here was a special service on a Sunday at the Chinese Y. M. C. where I was asked to give a lecture on the life of our late General and the Salvation Army work, to an audience of over five hundred Chinese. I read the Secretary acted as interpreter."

"The following Sunday Mr. Claude Severn, Acting Governor (a warm friend of the Army) stopped me on his way from Church and expressed his great admiration of our work, and finished up by singing one of our songs. We are out on the Ocean Salting." He said that his father, the late Bishop of Adelaide, Australia, had on several occasions entertained our late General during his visits to that country."

"We now sailed for the Malay Straits and called at Singapore. Here over two-thirds of the population are Chinese."

Songs of Salvation

WHY NOT NIGHT?

Tunes: Confidence, 4; Etern, 6; Song Book, 163.

Oh, do not let thy Lord depart,
 And close thine eyes against the light;

Poor sinner, harden not thy heart,
 Thou wouldst be saved—Why not to-night?

To-morrow's sun may never rise
 To bless the long-delayed sight;
 This is the time—Oh, then, be wise!
 Thou wouldst be saved—Why not to-night?

Our God, in pity fingers still:
 Oh, wilt thou thus His love require?
 Renounce at length thy stubborn
 Thou wouldst be saved—Why not to-night?

OH, WONDROUS LOVE!

Tunes: There is a happy land, 5;
 Jordan's flood, 4; Song Book, 8.
 Have you seen the Crucified?

Oh, wondrous love!
 Do you know for all He died?
 Oh, wondrous love!
 Have you seen His thorn-crowned head?
 Have you felt the crimson flow?
 Do you His Salvation know?
 Oh, wondrous love!

Do you know your sins forgiven?
 Oh, wondrous love!
 Have you had a taste of Heaven?
 Oh, wondrous love!
 Has His love cast out your fears?
 Has He wiped away your tears?
 At His word do you appear,
 Oh, wondrous love!

BE KIND TO HORSES

Kind treatment causes a horse to do well, because thereby he expects to be well treated, says R. S. Fimmis in "Modern Horse Management." In countries like Arabia the horse is looked up to by everybody, because they love the horse. The horse is of greater value to his owner if he is a friend to him, therefore at all times the owner should treat his horse with the utmost justice.

The horse is particularly susceptible to receiving and appreciating caresses unless he is very frightened or in a bad temper. The best place to pat a horse is on his neck; the patting must be done hard enough to hurt the horse and yet not soft enough to tickle him. The horse likes being stroked or rubbed better than being patted, as this more resembles the way his mother licked him on the neck and around the head when he was a foal. The best place to rub a horse is on the top of the head, unless he has been injured in this part; some horses seem to prefer being rubbed just above the eyes.
